Liminal communities

By

Andrea Volterrani

University of Rome Tor Vergata

Summary

- Vulnerability

- Liminal communities

- Hybrid participation processes
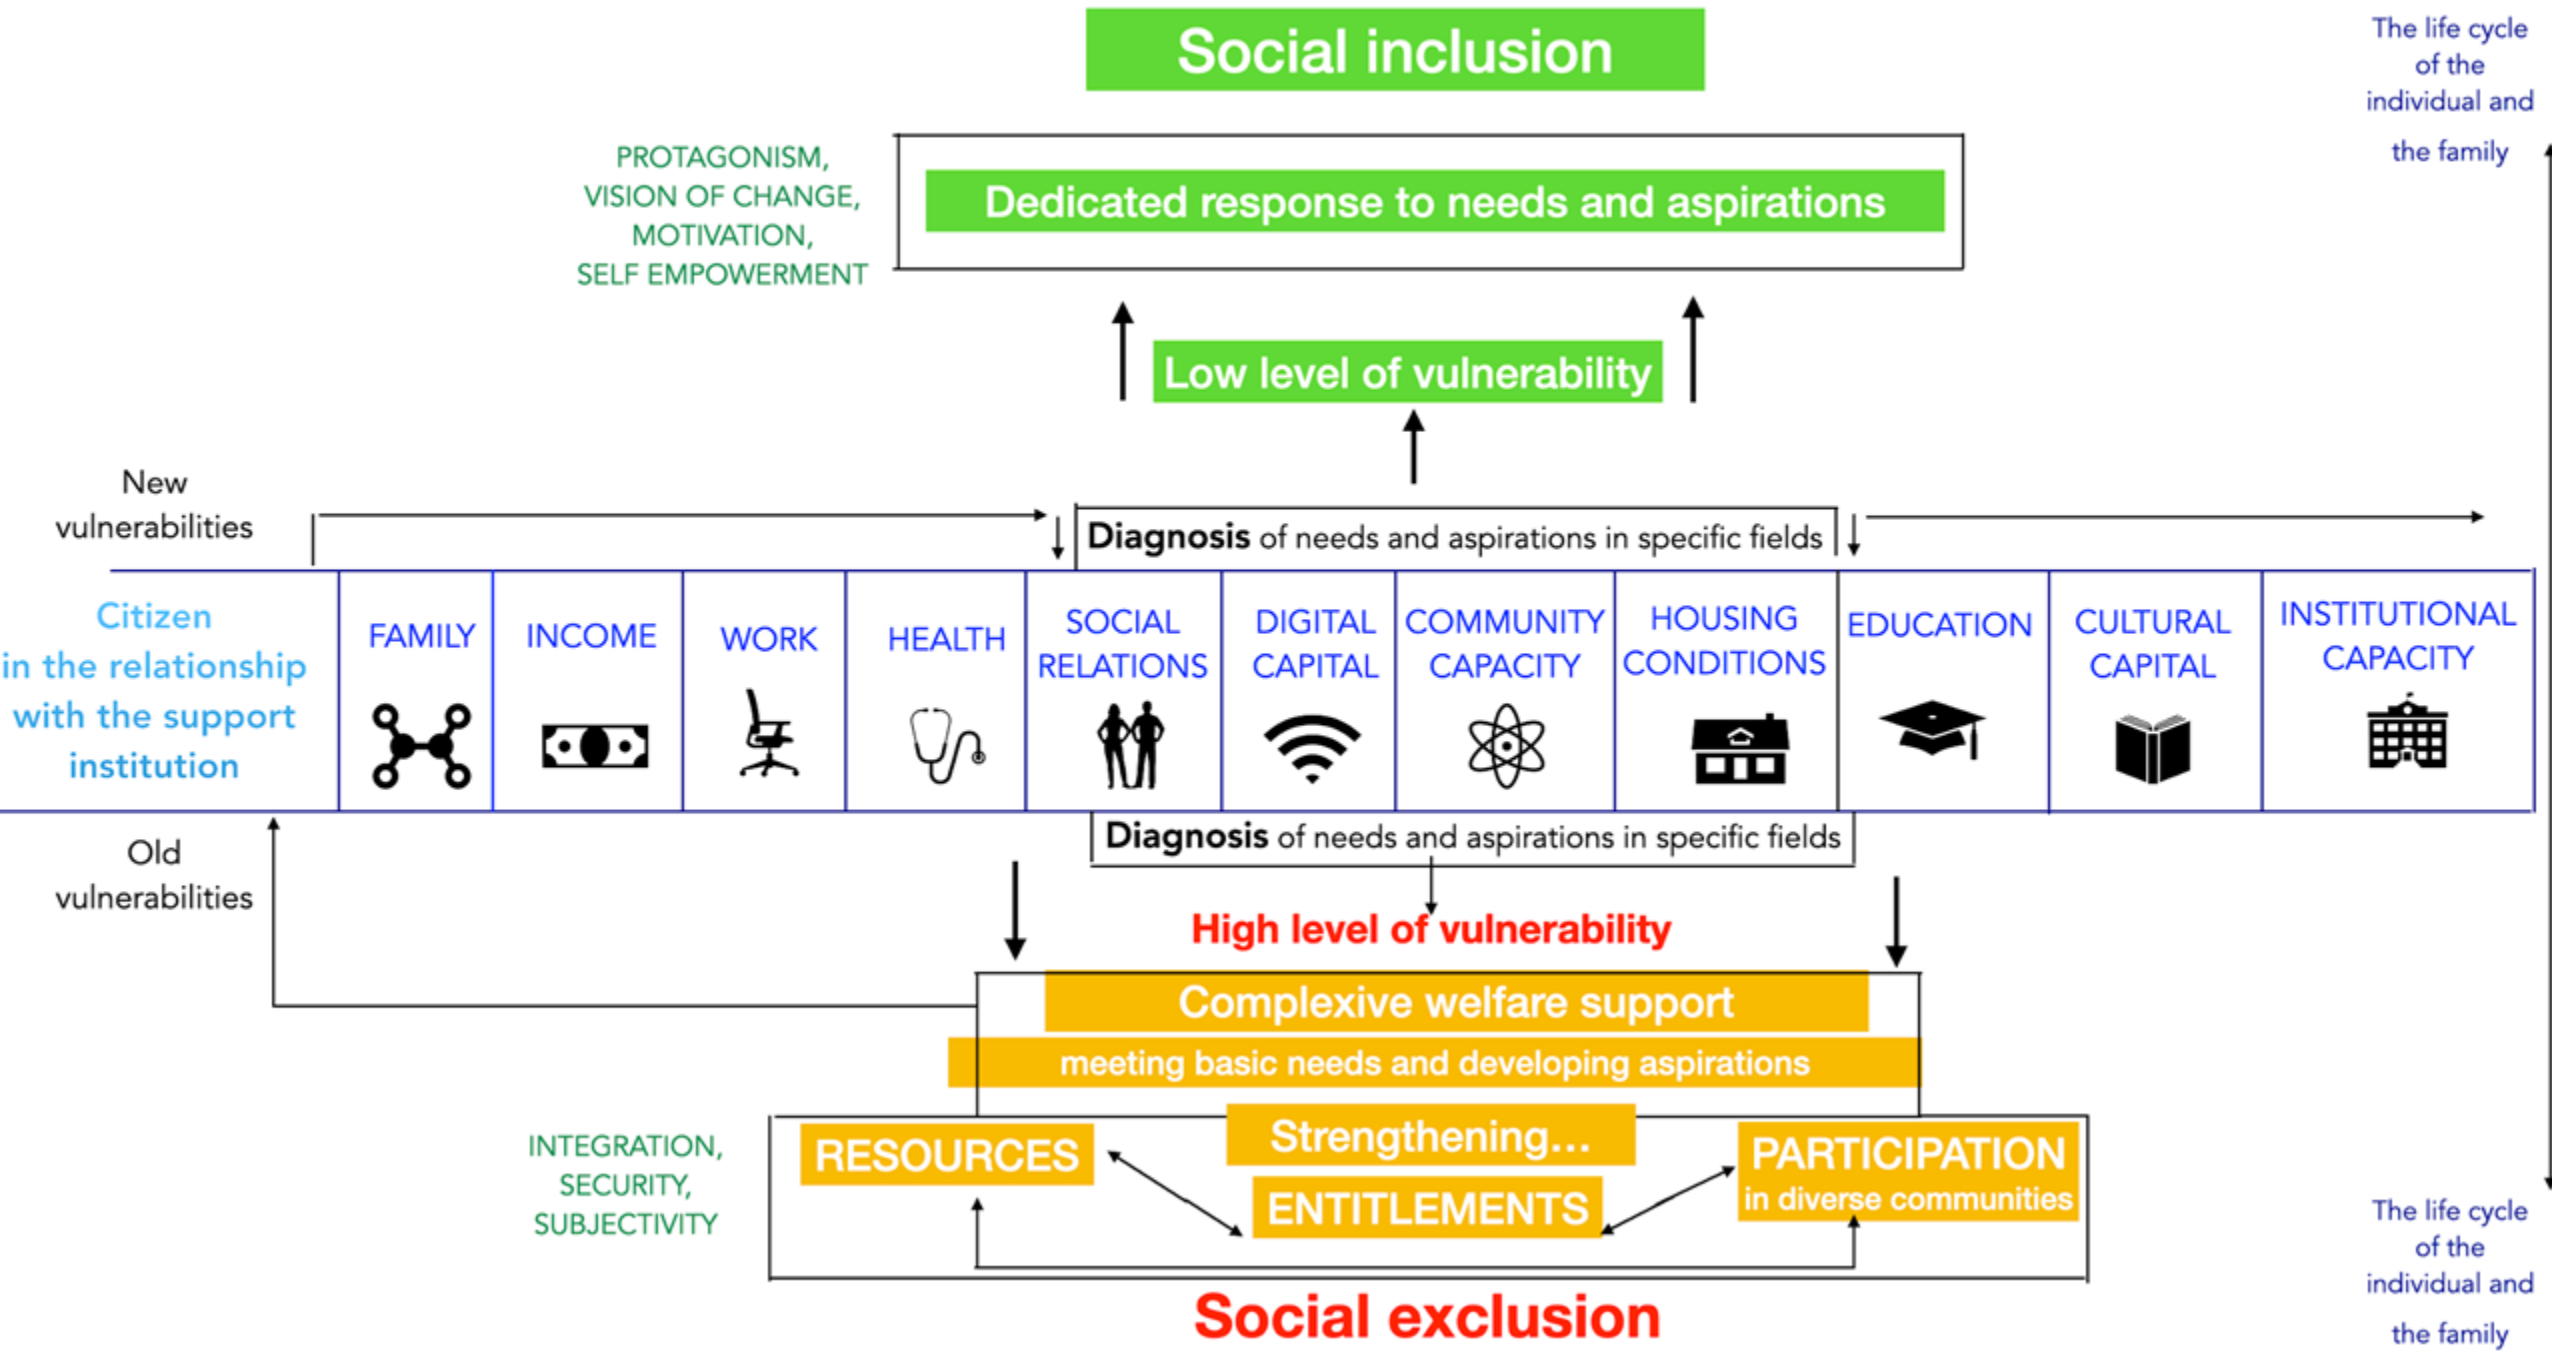

Summary

- Vulnerability
- Liminal communities
- Hybrid participation processes

We are all vulnerable….

The universal dimension of vulnerability as a challenge for "civic" social policy

Social inclusion

The life cycle of the individual and the family

PROTAGONISM, VISION OF CHANGE, MOTIVATION, SELF EMPOWERMENT

Dedicated response to needs and aspirations

Low level of vulnerability

New vulnerabilities

Diagnosis of needs and aspirations in specific fields

Citizen in the relationship with the support institution

| FAMILY | INCOME | WORK | HEALTH | SOCIAL RELATIONS | DIGITAL CAPITAL | COMMUNITY CAPACITY | HOUSING CONDITIONS | EDUCATION | CULTURAL CAPITAL | INSTITUTIONAL CAPACITY |

Diagnosis of needs and aspirations in specific fields

Old vulnerabilities

High level of vulnerability

Complexive welfare support

meeting basic needs and developing aspirations

INTEGRATION, SECURITY, SUBJECTIVITY

RESOURCES

Strengthening…

ENTITLEMENTS

PARTICIPATION in diverse communities

Social exclusion
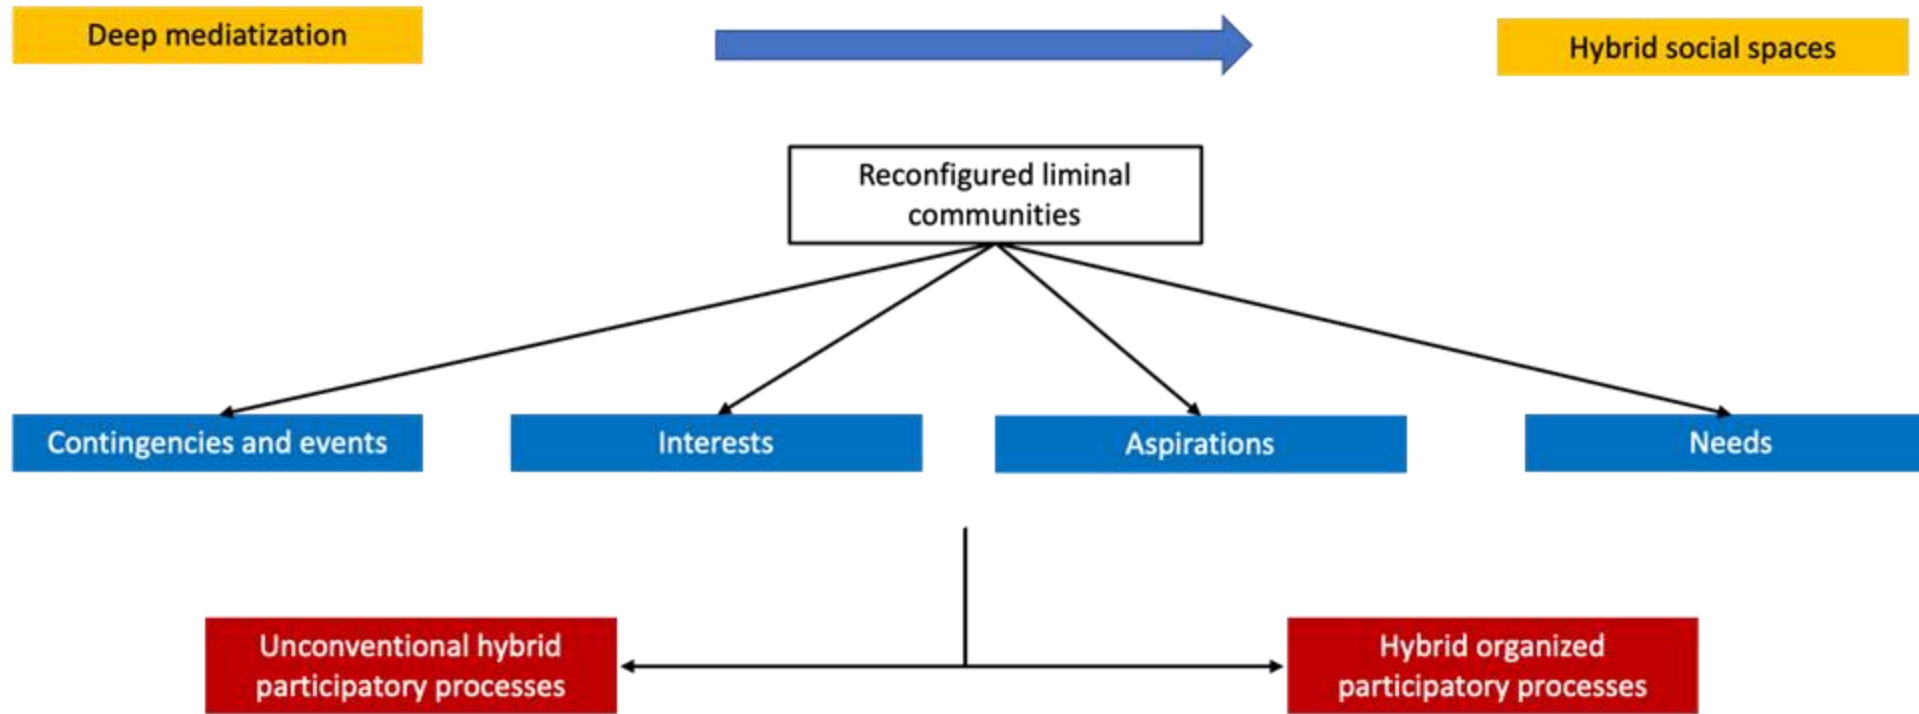

The life cycle of the individual and the family

Liminal communities…

characterised by:

- Processes of refiguration (Knoublach and Löw 2017)
- polycontextualisation
- Deep mediatisation (Hepp, 2020)
- Translocalisation (Hepp, 2015)
- De-familisation (Blokland, 2017; 2022)
- Widespread presence of vulnerabilities

A PROPOSED OUTLINE FOR ANALYSIS AND REFLECTION

Social development: pathways for people's protagonism and participation

In our perspective, territories and communities are, first of all, neither objects nor subjects of business. They are not objects because territories and communities are places deeply intertwined with relationships between people.

Social development of communities is the ability to increase the social capital and social cohesion of a community in the direction of increasing relational density on the one hand and making the community a resource for citizens on the other.
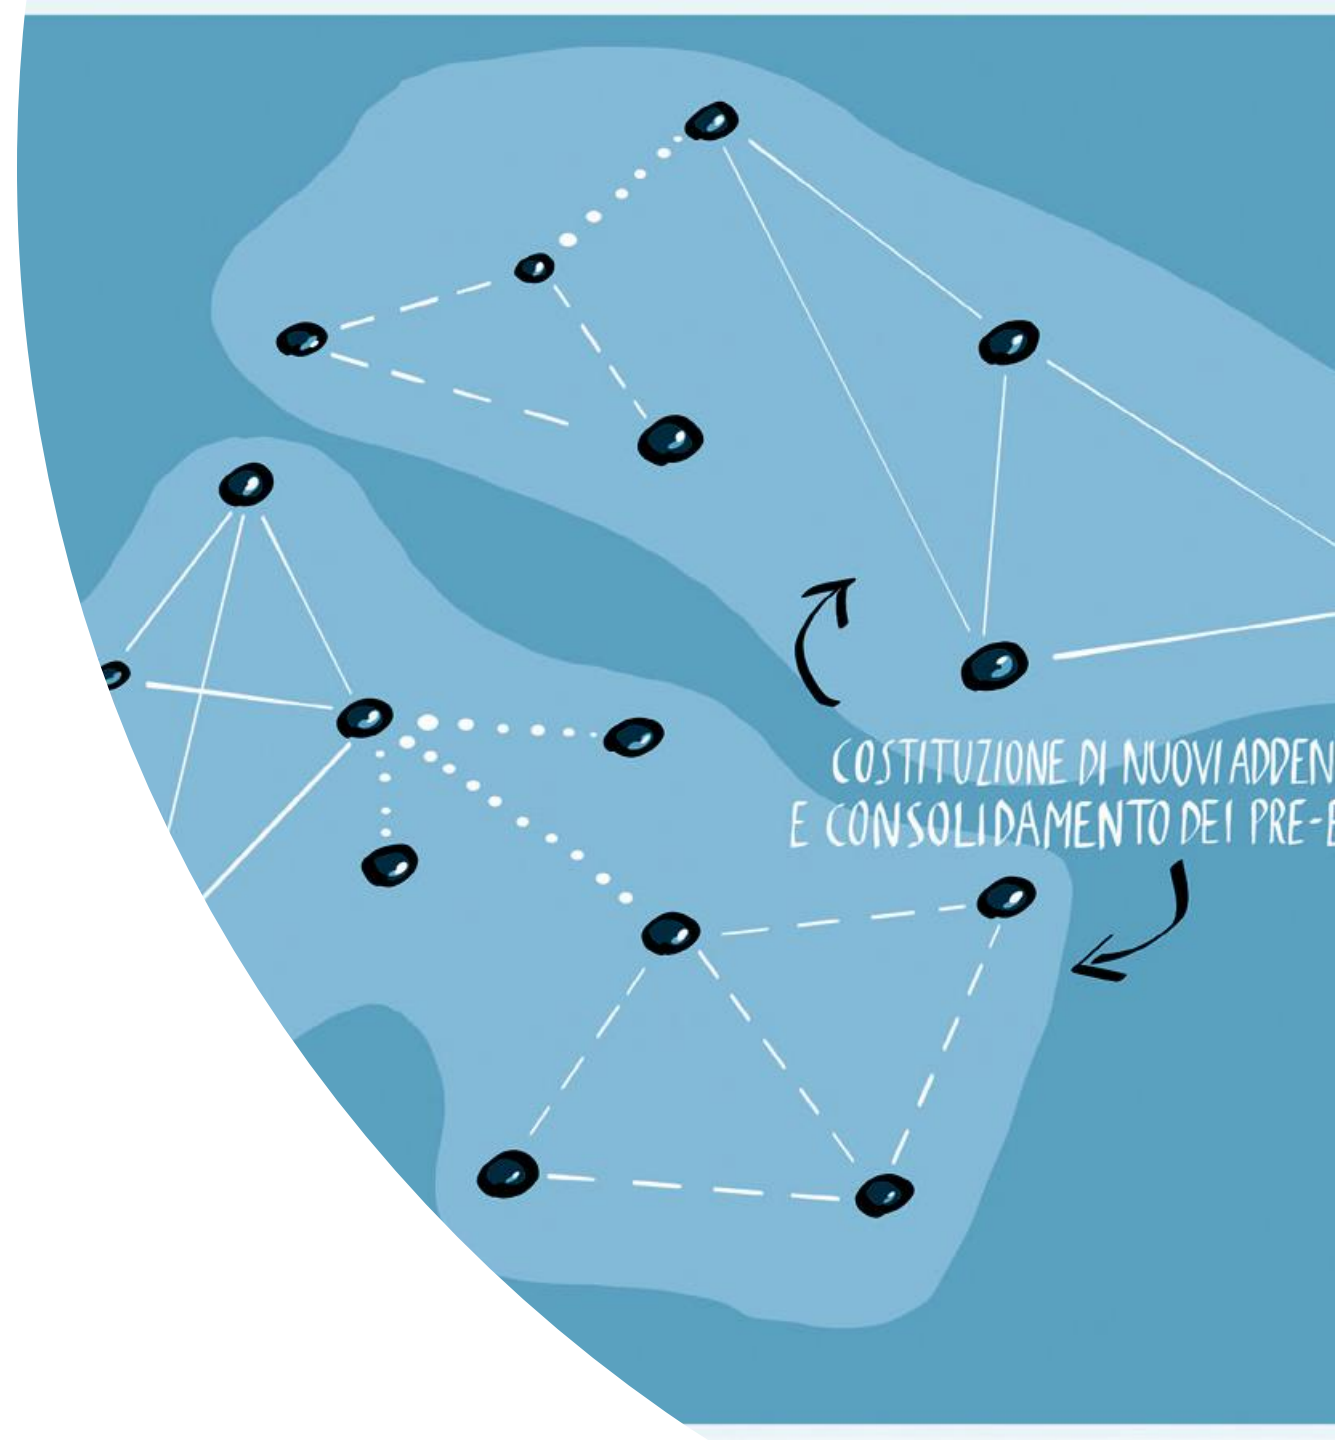

Edu-communication processes: where and how possible?

A possible process

- Participatory observation and active listening
- Empowerment of groups and individuals
  - (conscientization; educommunication - Paulo Freire)
  - Facilitating participation and communication in the community
- Building simple links and relationships (real and digital)
- Building complex links (informal groups, groups, associations)
- Involving institutions to co-programme

COSTITUZIONE DI NUOVI ADDEN
E CONSOLIDAMENTO DEI PRE-E

Working with the community and not on or for the community

Participatory processes

- Moving from inclusive participation to meaningful participation
- Hybrid participation processes
  - www.decidim.org

sono ritornate prepotentemente on site, positivamente o negativamente, includendo o escludendo persone.

Hybrid Participation

Fig. 7.2. Le dimensioni dei processi partecipativi ibridi.